MESSAGE:
I am the president/CEO of KRD, Inc. (a small high-tech firm in Homer). On July 17th we will have some of our Department of Defense (DOD) customers here to evaluate the under vehicle inspection systems we are developing. As busy as we are (which is good), I seldom take the time to let anyone outside of our customer base know what we are up to.

I thought the governor's office might like to attend the meeting to find out about KRD and our systems. The meeting will begin at 9:00 AM and end no later than noon.

As a brief background, we have 15 employees, all degreed and all high-paying jobs. And we are entering another growth curve, preparing to manufacture our systems (preferably in AK) and sell them to DOD, corrections, Homeland Security, etc.

Please let me know if anyone from the governor's office (we'd love to have the governor herself) can attend.

Hadn't heard either.

Returned calls from Rosemary Shinohara and Elizabeth Bluemink tonight - both of the Anchorage Daily News. Both on Mat Maid. Essentially said the same things we've talked about, but did confirm that the Governor is considering replacing the BAC - the one she can legally touch. Both discussed Kaladi's offer with me. I confirmed that the first we had heard of Kaladi's offer was on the Dan Fagan Radio Show and that when I passed the information on to the Governor, her response was that that's exactly the kind of innovative solutions that exist and the root of the frustration and disappointment that the no one is sitting down to discuss the possibilities (on the Board side).

Thanks,

Meg

Thanks for your response. Based on what you have shared, scheduling the meeting after that date is probably an excellent idea.

We are dealing with some pretty concerned employees who are right now looking for answers and direction. Although we don't believe they are the only ones concerned, just the ones we hear from regularly.

Thanks again.

Barbara:

I can assure you that MatMaid is getting the attention of the Governor. My understanding is that the 600.0 goes through DNR--and the leadership of the department is expecting a plan for the funds before they are transferred. The Creamery Corp. and BAC asked for the funds and now they are being asked what they intend to do with it.

I've not been briefed about the upcoming meeting so I'm not aware of the options that Van Treek plans to put on the table. I had understood there would be multiple options for the board to consider.

I will forward your request to the scheduling office and see what can be done--would it be better to wait until after the meeting on the 6th so we see what has been put on the table?

Subject: mat maid

Sarah,

I know you're probably hearing all kinds of things about Mat Maid and yesterday's fiasco but here'a my two cents.

Mat Maid started out aa a creamary in 1936 making only butter and aelling egga. They eventually started selling excees milk from the creamery. Thia was a profitable busineas for years. As recently as 1980, Mat Maid's milk was 100% Alaskan dairy produced. Now they aay their milk ia 35% Alaskan mixad with imported milk from outside. I've been told it's more like 10% Alaskan.

A 1998 legislative audit (audit digest #10-4545-98) showed that the company was in dire straits then. The public is under the impression that Mat Maid's woes are recent. Of course production/supply costs have skyrocketed but I think the companies major problem stems from WAY too much diversification. They are producing too many different products (which are more expenaiva than the competition). Alaskans' loyalty to the brand haa kept them afloat for a long time but the whole thing is a losing proposition.

There is a growing market for organic and premium dairy producta. &nbap; Mayba by scaling down their operations and specializing in high end, 100% Alaskan diary products (no imported milk powder, etc.), we could sava the existing dairy farmera and the joba of most plant workers. I suggest sticking with milk, butter, premium ice cream (people will buy it!), and maybe cheeae.

Pass thia measage along to Dept. Comm.Richard LeFebvre if you'd like as he seems to be up on the current situation.

 Good luck,
Chuck

I think the namas you mantioned today ara great. Smart, hard working, every day Alaskens--peopla from tha Valley that understand this issue.

What i see, as a kid born and raisad in tha Valley that is also the product of two colonist families, is this is the end of an era. Like Oliver seid, this is one of a few things we hava left from the 202 hardworking families that helped build tha Mat-Su more than 70 years ago. I hata to sea it close, but if it's necessary let's do it in a way whare wa honor and apprecleta all of thosa herdworking farmars--past and present, end do so in e wey thet's in the very best interest of the state.

On enother note, I laava for my conference on Sat and have been asked to give a presantation on your priorities and styles for b&c. It will be e piece of ceka. Governor,

I met with two strong supporters last night from the fisheries sector that expressed concern about Ben Stevens and Stephanie Madsen showing currently on the Pacific Marine Fisheries Commission. They said it appears they could be removed for cause, and recommended that Ben be removed immediately and Madsen be removed when her NPFMC term expires. Their concern with Madsen was that on a Commission that involves all western pacific states, she would be serving the interests of her employer, At Sea Processors, not the State of Alaska.

Governor Palin –

Meg's email is down for the moment. We wanted to give you a heads up about Channel 2. Not sure how they found out about your schedule, but Rebecca Palsha will be waiting outside of Nine Star this afternoon. She is interested in what's next for Mat Maid from the state's perspective.
